

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Midbury had its first band concert of the season the evening of Memorial day.

Dean J. L. Hills of the college of agriculture estimates that the state spends $750,000 yearly for fertilizer.

The steamer Vermont of the Champlain Transportation company began its regular schedule Memorial day.

Mrs. Sarah Dike celebrated her 105th birthday anniversary at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Sturtevant, in Pittsford, May 26.

Harold Langlois was badly burned at the woolen mills in Winslow May 29 by hot water and steam as he was working about the washers.

"Capt." Omar Smith, a veteran Rutland printer, died May 29 of aneurysm. He had lived in that city for 21 years and was 71 years old.

The Highgate Center public library has received a framed photograph with autograph letter of the poet John G. Saxe from John W. Saxe of Boston.

Maj. W. O. Cooley of Brattleboro has been ordered to Fort Sill, Okla., where he will attend the school of musketry. He is a member of the V. N. G.

Howard W. Plant, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Plant of Burlington, went as third-class railroad operator on the destroyer fleet that recently sailed for France.

Arthur Delisle of Montgomery was sentenced in St. Albans city court May 28 to serve 30 days in jail and to pay costs of $13.50 for breaking quarantine.

T. H. Davenport is soon to build in Bennington a modern, concrete bakeshop, with the latest machinery, capable of turning out 4,000 loaves of bread in ten hours.

The town of Hartford held a special meeting recently when it was voted to levy a tax of 20 cents on the dollar to pay the special state tax incident to war expenditures.

By the will of the late Judge Arba N. Waterman of Chicago, the Johnson Normal school is named as a beneficiary among 30 legatees. The estate is valued at quarter of a million.

Forty-five veterans were present at the pre-Memorial service at the Rutland Baptist church Sunday. An impressive feature of the service was the presentation to the church of a silk flag.

A Jersey cow, owned by J. D. Gibbs of Mendon, valued at $75, was struck and killed by a Ford automobile, belonging to George Trembley of Rutland, a few days ago. The cow was in the highway when struck.

The first brick house in Burlington, or one so labeled, stands at 168 South Battery street. It was built by Dr. John Pomeroy in 1793. In 1809 it was the medical school.

The demand for pulp wood is becoming so insistent that some of the lumber manufacturing companies in the southern part of the state are selling their logs for pulp instead of cutting them into lumber.

Miss Ethel Butson, a St. Johnsbury nurse, died May 29 at Brightlight hospital in the state of mastoid abscesses. She was 24 years old and a native of Barre. She was soon to have married Alvin P. Calderwood of St. Johnsbury.

The 10,000,000-foot log drive of the American White river has passed out of the White river and into the Connecticut river at White River Junction. The first of the logs are near their destination at Bellows Falls.

About 30 per cent of the students of the University of Vermont, or 182 out of a total of 612, have left college on account of the war, to work in various capacities. Forty-two of the students have gone to the Plattsburg camp and 17 more are scheduled to go.

Napoleon Ianni and another man, both riding bicycles, collided in Rutland May 28, an automobile hiding each from the other. Ianni received a slight concussion of the brain, as the impact threw both men high in the air. He is a senior in the Rutland high school.

W. D. Bell, whose garden is one of the best in Westfield, is having a hard time with crows, which until this season have never bothered anything but corn and grain. Sunday they uprooted most of his cucumber and squash vines, radishes and some other early produce.

George Snow, the Sharon station agent, in some way fell down the chute where a gang of men were unloading coal from cars, and as he fell the scoop dumped a load of coal upon him. He was made unconscious and is badly bruised about the head and face, but no bones were broken.

Mrs. E. A. Waldron, aged 31 years, was attacked by an unknown man the afternoon of May 29 as she was looking for cows in a pasture near her home in Brattleboro. She broke away from him, leaving part of her sweater in his hands and bearing on both arms the marks of his clutch. No one has yet been identified as her assailant.

A Ford automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huntington of West Rutland was struck by the engine of a Delaware and Hudson freight train in West Rutland May 29. The car was badly damaged, but the occupants were uninjured. Mr. Huntington is a rural mail carrier.

The altar panels of St. Andrew's Episcopal church at St. Johnsbury are to be decorated this summer by the New York artist and designer, Helen Patterson Williams. The former St. Johnsbury woman makes this gift to the church in memory of her father, Dr. Dean Patterson, who for 25 years was one of the leading members in the church.

The Smith College association of Vermont held its annual meeting at the Otter Creek tea rooms in Rutland May 28. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Howard C. Perkins; vice-president, Mrs. Howard C. Perkins; secretary, Miss Marion Garry; treasurer, Miss Jessie Judd of Bellows Falls.

Falls; councillor, Miss Edith K. Dutton of Rutland. A hall scholarship was awarded Miss Alice Abbott of Newport, who will enter college in the fall.

Two automobile accidents in Rutland recently were caused while the victims were cranking their cars. Charles H. Harrison, cashier of the Clement National bank, had his right arm fractured at the wrist, while Harrison J. Laselle, an engineer on the Rutland railroad, received a wound on his right forearm which necessitated 10 stitches to close.

Although many canning factories all over the country are not to open this fall because of the scarcity of tin, the Essex Junction corn canning factory is preparing to take care of all the corn that can be produced in that section. The concern has plenty of cans ahead, it is said. In a year when the corn crop is normal, the plant turns out 1,000,000 cans of corn in a month.

Miss Eva Greenough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Greenough of White River Junction, has been granted a fellowship in the national war department and has gone to Washington, D. C. Miss Greenough is a graduate from the Catholic convent schools in Montreal and for the past year has been employed as a court stenographer at Globe, Ariz.

The joy ride of Misses Elizabeth Supry and Margaret Haskins of Hudson Falls, N. Y., ended in the Rutland jail Tuesday night. Accepting an invitation to ride from the New York town to Middlebury by auto, they were left adrift in that city without funds to return home, and started for Rutland on foot. They were held there until an officer from their home town came for them. They were but 15 years old.

Ira E. Pond of Middlebury, an electrician, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with Clerk F. S. Platt of the United States court. His liabilities are $1,981.64 and he has assets of $266.29, of which $75 is claimed exempt. There are 43 creditors, nearly all in Middlebury and Keene, N. H. The only Burlington creditor is Mount Mansfield Distilled Water company, $18.

H. S. Cook, drum sergeant of the Salvation Army in Rutland, has been dismissed since May 17 and his wife has advised for information concerning him. He left home that morning, after telling her he was going to Ludlow or Poultony to collect funds and has not been seen since, except that one man thinks he sat with him as far as Vergennes in the train. Mrs. Cook says their home life was pleasant and she knows of no reason for his departure, fearing something has happened to him. Charles Cox, another Rutland member of the Salvation Army, is also missing.

Should Also Be Considered Day in Vermont.

Registration day should be observed as Consideration day. It should not be considered a day of gaiety and pleasure, but a day of dignified deportment and sober patriotism.

Although the president has recommended that there be no suspension of industrial activities or cessation of mercantile or professional pursuits, yet all who can do so in the various towns of the state should avail themselves of the opportunity of making some recognition of the young men who present themselves for registration on June 5, 1917, the day designated by the president for this purpose.

The attention of the people in the various towns should be definitely called to the following facts: That it is the part actively and officially played by the towns in the great world tragedy, that it is the first local and legally prescribed event that brings acutely home to the consciousness of the people the fact that we are at war, that it is the first time in the history of the state when the strong, sturdy and potential force of each of the respective towns has been assembled in this manner, and that the assemblage is fraught with mighty significance and consequences.

From among these young men, the earnest of each town's prosperity and moral and civil welfare, there will be chosen later those who are to go overseas and to the trenches for the purpose of protecting the United States against a formidable foe and of preserving to the people the right to order their own form of government, to enjoy their own established liberties and to maintain inviolate their own self-sovereignty.

It is also desired that all within the state display their flags on the day under consideration, and that those who can give the time therefore decorate the registration halls in fitting manner and give a cordial and patriotic character to the occasion.

In some towns the citizens contemplate giving a dinner to and conferring appropriate badges or buttons or emblems upon the registrants and having brief addresses made by a few of the townspeople, especially by some of the young men who register, and thus make the event a town-family affair. These features should be encouraged as extensively as possible and each town should appoint a committee to prepare a program and to see to its full performance.

It is especially desired that all acquaint themselves with the process of registration, give it the widest possible publicity, and bring its provisions definitely to the attention of every young man within the registration age period. It should positively be made known, especially to the young men eligible to registration, that the census taken by the listers in March 1917, is in no way whatever a substitute for registration, and that all foreign born males, whether naturalized or not, must register.
